PRODUCT DESCRIPTION

DSH ca.1925 125cc Villiers two stroke frame#2141 engine# T3073

DSH were a small Austrian firm trading from 1924 to 1932; the initials represent the last names of the three proprietors: Doller, Seidl, and Hauler, who drew heavily on a variety of English suppliers for chassis components and engines.

Starting with assembled machines of 175 and 250cc, using Villiers power, they soon progressed into the 500/750cc field with motors by JAP, and also the Swiss made MAG engine.

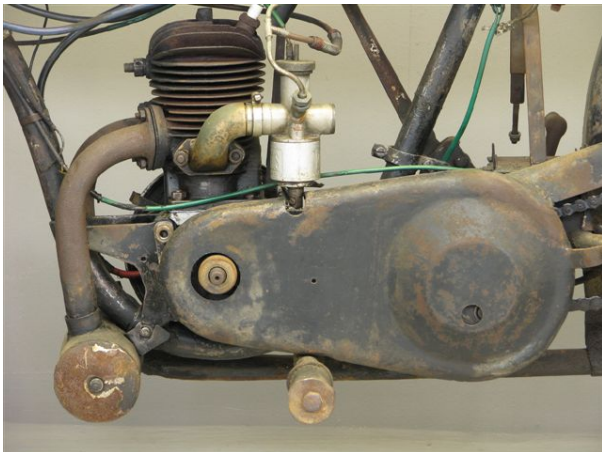

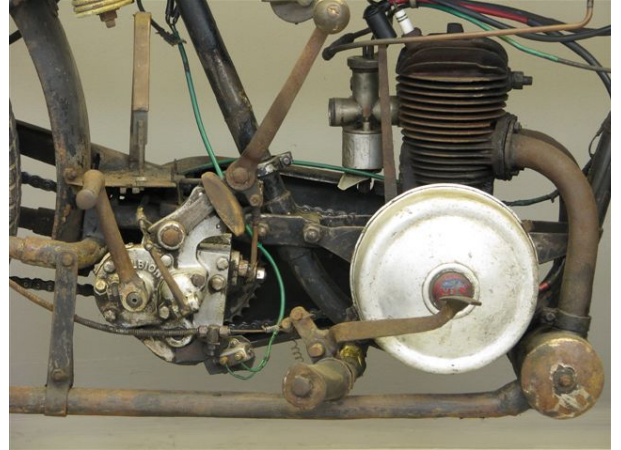

This 125 DSH-Villiers has remained untouched since 1970, precisely as purchased by the former owner.

The engine turns over against good compression.

Conventionally equipped, and 99% complete, this authentic flat-tank machine is undoubtedly a stunning mid-1920s artefact!
